Animal Adaptations • July 3-7, 2023

We'll learn about the amazing ways animals and plants use their physical and behavioral adaptations to survive in the wild. No camp on Tuesday, July 4; Price adjusted

Forest, Fields, and Fun • July 10-14, 2023

Explore how forest and field ecosystems host many interesting organisms and how these organisms interact with each other.

Outdoor Detectives • July 17-21, 2023

Find clues in nature and solve the mystery of the forest. Using our five senses, we'll inspect leaves, bark, seeds, and mud for hints about our world.

Earth Art • July 24-28, 2023

Nature offers countless opportunities to create art! The natural world will be our drawing implements, our blank canvas, our studio, and even our paint.

Nature's Neighborhoods • July 31-Aug. 4, 2023

This week we'll look into how animals use various habitats and what we can do to help Maine's wildlife thrive.

Wet and Wild • Aug. 7-11, 2023

Dive into different water-based habitats, explore creatures above and below the surface, and learn how to keep our waterways clean, healthy, and happy.

Buzz, Flutter, and Crawl • Aug. 14-18, 2023

Explore the fascinating world of insects. Learn many reasons to "love bugs" as we get to know our insect neighbors through games, crafts, and science activities.
